

A Message from Ashtar by Mark Stearn 11.21.06

A message from Ashtar.

By Mark Stearn.

(21st November, 2006.)

(Personal note from Mark: What Ashtar has to say here has me rubbing more sleep from my eyes as the impact of the actual truth sets in. Truth sets in for me as an internal feeling that liberates my energetic pattern and I always feel freer and more at ease as a result. This is how I gauge truth; when it is life giving and settles the heart like nothing else can.) I had this the first time I began to read what Heru had to say. The cunningness of what is false has held such incredible sway that it even penetrated many an individual's guidance streams. I know we know this, but hey I suppose thank the stars we are now realising this and will no longer be duped by embracing crippling falsities presented as divine truths.)

Ashtar:

Tremendous hearts and bounteous souls,

I salute you all in the swiftly unfolding light of all that is piercing your duality streams at this time. Prime creator now moves with a passion through your societal streams remaking the order of everything that is. Earth is already lighter. She is experiencing vast aspects of her form simply falling away now. Thought-forms of dualistic nature are being taken out of the equation and now you may ask; 'What is to come next?'. Mark is correct in his observations. Swiftly now comes the movement of your internal natures throughout the vastness of planet Earth. All is now in the making for our vast uncloaking in your presence. We observe the streams that affect you and we delight to know that they are being remade as your internal patterns and identities move to the fore. Everything now from the ground up is about the creator moving into all that is and completely reshaping the contractual nature of all that is. For you dear hearts and bounteous filters for all that is of home, this means that we will share in your collective presence in a simple matter of Earth weeks.

As we have shared with you before; You are doing what it takes us much 'time' to bring about from the realm of our experience. The nature of everything is shifting as this is now the desire of the greater sway. We are in readiness. As we witness the absolution of all that has been anchoring you in one realm, we are witnessing that anchor being ripped asunder from its grounding and a new light entering to replace it. We have been longing to share with you for much time about the actual nature of how this creation has been unfolding. For much time we engaged the concept of Earth as a game. We are aware of your vast natures simply outgrowing this concept and all the natural questions that it has undoubtedly born. Next we have the concept of an experiment. Allow me to reiterate that when Earth was created, it was designed as a template of peace and tranquillity. It is a vast falsehood that many have been clinging to that the nature of Earth was to engage anything other than perpetual splendour. In fact prime creator is now doing an observation of all creation to prevent any type of disease ever manifesting in its celestial body from this point onwards.

We have been here the entire time. We have honoured the contracts that you have willingly embraced. We are delighted that what is now unfolding allows nothing other than complete well being to flow throughout the vast collective body. I am most aware that much rest and relaxation is now moving your way. You have taken the lid off the primordial pot of all that has been engaging this creation and you are now allowing your vast natures to permeate the truth into every molecule of this creation. It is our vast delight that the threads of this creation are finely being rewoven in a fashion that for once benefits the entire collective. Much alteration of the patterning of the universal threads has been transpiring that has altered the very nature of your original desire for being here. We advocate that no soul entering this experience did so with a desire for experiencing anything other than a peaceful sojourn in a beautiful and bounteous place as Earth once vibrated. The threads of dualistic ideas about why you are here have become strongly enmeshed into the collective thought-form and they have been infinitely effective until this time.

It has taken a vast influx of the actual light of home to penetrate through strong ideas and beliefs that actually created the very ?prison? that many feel Earth just became. We move among you in actuality. The dream is falling away. What was so tenaciously put in place is being taken down by the firm light of the truth. The light dawns and it does so with a ferocity that engages all that is out of alignment with the underlying desire of the collective. This desire now is to once more experience the actual nature of creation undistorted. Many of you beloved hearts have been having vast awakenings and expansions in your consciousness only to feel that in the next instant that your vibration once more becomes engaged or enlisted in the unfolding of the vibration that has held such sway until now. We watch you and we are aware that you are now grasping the very essence of being-ness itself. This is true piercing of the veil, when all thought-forms are revealed for what they truly are and what is untrue can no longer alter your deepest internal patterning.

Never forget vast hearts, you have been in an experience that was radically altered in its true nature. You have been experiencing a convoluted form of the original divine conception. This is a huge stepping out that is happening. You are doing it! We couldn't say enough about the bravery we are witnessing in the emergence of the truth of actual concordance with home. The way showers are holding the truth high now and all are beginning to recognise it. What is emerging now is a level playing field where one essence is not being played off the other by a distinctly discordant force. You have been enmeshed for much time. You have been the entire time present on the Earth to unravel the actual truth. This is not to be permitted ever again in this level of creation. All contracts in their natures with the creator are being rewritten as the light of home settles more strongly into your vast hearts and essences that are remaking the matrix of your own free will. Home settles through your hearts now with an eternal peace that forever engages the soul and drives any questions of origins back to their origins. Remember dear hearts the nature of creation. You are master creators and you create well. Adonai in the light of home.

I am your firm friend,

Ashtar.

Blessings,

Mark.

Email: markstearn@yahoo.ie

Blog: <http://adventurer.co.nr>